

QuartersForWater™

Dear Colleagues,

What a difference students can make in the lives of other children living half way around the world! Through ChangeALife Uganda's QuartersForWater program, school children across New Jersey raised over $75,000!

This money enables us to provide clean, running water to a health center, to 600 students attending St. Lawrence School, as well as 1,400 villagers in Migyera, Uganda. We are so grateful to the many school administrators, teachers and students who helped make this possible.

Now, ChangeALife Uganda wants to share the benefits of clean water and better hygiene with Ugandan families who do not live close to the well. Therefore, we are launching the "RISE" phase of our QuartersForWaters program which is a comprehensive educational and infrastructure improvement plan. We invite you to partner with us again to help Migyera RISE by:

- Raising roofs on homes and refitting them with gutters to enable rain water collection;
- Installing home water collection tanks, water purification systems, latrines and handwashing stations;
- Setting up WASH (Water, Sanitation and Hygiene) teams comprised of students and teachers who will share good hygiene practices with local families, like making brooms, toilet paper holders, latrine covers;
- Empowering families by training them to make and sell hygiene products like soap and reusable sanitary pads.

As an educator and ChangeALife Uganda Board member, I believe that educated children are agents of change in Uganda and here at home. Like you, I have seen the enthusiastic response of children engaged in projects to help others. Please join us as we continue this journey and help us make clean water available to more Ugandan children and their families.

Attached is a bulleted list of ideas to help you lead this initiative at your school.

Thank you in advance for your interest and participation. Your leadership affords your students the opportunity to be active global citizens and to make a remarkable and lasting impact in the lives of other children. Please contact me if you have any questions about implementing a QuartersForWaters RISE Program at your school.

Sincerely,

P.S. Have your students seen the YouTube video of Ugandan children celebrating clean, running water? It's a must see for children who can view the wonderful results of their generosity and activism. See how RISE will change the future of rural families at:
